Objective of the Conference

Communicating research findings is an essential step in the research process. Often, peer-reviewed journals are the forum for such communication, yet many researchers are never taught how to write a publishable scientific paper. Also plagiarism is one of the emerging issue in the area of research including the act of using other's work intentionally or unintentionally. Finally it may result in to disciplinary actions by the University. It is thus imperative for researchers to increase their understanding about how to write scientific research paper by avoiding plagiarism. This conference mainly focus on the basic structure of a scientific paper, how to write it as per journal guidelines, its impact factor, Citations, it also discuss about Plagiarism and Different software adoption to minimize plagiarism. This conference is fruitful to identify common pitfalls for each section and recommend strategies to avoid them. Further, it will discuss about target journal selection and authorship.

This conference is opened to all faculties, Government and Non-Government organization, Civil society, members of academia and PG students.
